

Estimating

Kortman Electric has developed an estimating team that provides the knowledge required to meet the specific needs and objectives of each individual client. Our team has extensive experience in both the general contractor and subcontractor fields, providing accurate information to the scope of each project. In addition, they have the field experience that is needed for the takeoff and budgeting process. The estimating team has vast knowledge on all types of construction projects and utilizes various methods of procurement as required by the client.

Kortman Electric's estimating objectives include:

- Effective communication from the bid process through construction
- Expert knowledge in all methods of construction, constructability and procurement processes
- A resource to the client to meet their specific needs through value engineering
- Timely, detailed and accurate budgeting on a consistent basis
- CAD / BIM experience
- Design Build expertise with the required professional liability insurance